Ashburton, UK 24th October, 2018 - – Sigma Software Distribution today announced a new distribution agreement with TITUS, a leading provider of data protection solutions. Through this agreement, more than three hundred Sigma IT security retailers will be able to leverage TITUS' industry-leading solutions to help customers accelerate the adoption of a data protection strategy that's right for them.

Jane Silk, Managing Director at Sigma said: "TITUS have been working closely with their high-profile customer base for many years to help transform organisations' security culture. We are delighted to be partnering with TITUS and are looking forward to helping them drive their channel strategy within the UK."

David Land, VP of International Sales at TITUS, said: "We are excited to partner with Sigma Software Distribution to grow our presence in the UK market. Working with Sigma's well-established reseller network enables us to play a critical role in providing UK organisations with the technology they need to meet regulatory compliance, such as EU GDPR, and to enable secure collaboration with best-in-class data protection solutions."

TITUS data protection solutions are immediately available through Sigma Software Distribution resellers. To learn more visit www.sigmasd.com
