New research has discovered that women are significantly more likely to have a long and loyal relationship with an Arsenal fan than with a Manchester City or a Chelsea fan. According to the poll, Arsenal fans are the most loyal amongst Premier League fans in Britain and have the least interest in cheating.

A new poll has found that 68% of Arsenal fans have never cheated their wife/girlfriend compared with just 33% of Man City fans and 41% of Chelsea fans. The team at BestBettingSites.Online (<https://bestbettingsites.online>) conducted the research as part of an ongoing study into British Premier League fans attitudes towards betting and loyalty. 2,234 Premier League Britons fans aged 18 and over were quizzed about loyalty, cheating and love.

Initially, all respondents were asked 'What is your Premier League football team?'. Secondly they were asked if they were in a relationship. All the respondents that were Premier League fans and were in a relationship were then asked if they have never cheated on their partner.

Wanting to delve a little deeper, all respondents who provided a 'No' answer were asked the following question: 'Do you see yourself cheating your partner in the next 5 years if the right occasion arise?' Again Man City (43%) and Chelsea (34%) fans were more likely to cheat on their partner while Arsenal fans were the least likely to cheat in the whole Premier League (just 12% would be tempted).

John Pentin, Editor in Chief for BestBettingSites.Online, commented:

"We have always suspected that Arsenal fans will be the most loyal around and that Man City and Chelsea fans are more likely to jump on the best possible wagon if possible. This study strongly confirms this assumption: beware women when dating someone. You might want to start by asking which team they do support before taking things any further!"
