June 2019, Mayflex (<https://www.mayflex.com/>) the distributor of Converged IP Solutions is attending the Security Twenty 19 event in Manchester on the 2nd July. These conferences are aimed at key purchasers and people who specify security products and provides updates for attendees on the latest developments in the security industry.

Mayflex will once again be showcasing its converged IP solutions which incorporate security, infrastructure and networking solutions. Representatives from the converged sales teams will be available to provide knowledge and expertise throughout the course of the day, which includes advice and support with product selection and system design to cover all elements of a project no matter the size.

Steve Proctor, Director of Sales, Mayflex comments "Following our attendance at the Glasgow event back in April, the Mayflex team is looking forward to further networking opportunities with both new and existing customers in Manchester. The team will also be attending the charity dinner, sponsored by IFSEC 2019, the evening before to help raise funds for the 'Make a Wish Foundation'.

Steve continues, "Our attendance at these events provides us with an opportunity to update delegates and make sure that they fully understand and appreciate the true extent of the products and services available from Mayflex. The things which differentiate us from the vast number of distributors available in this market sector."

Steve concludes, "These differentiators include our range of Specialist Support Services which include the Pre-staging of IP devices (<https://www.mayflex.com/node/9594>), bespoke camera spraying (<https://www.mayflex.com/node/12088>) along with pre-terminated fibre assemblies (<https://www.mayflex.com/node/9596>). Each of these services are designed to help customers deploy products faster and save on investment in specialist labour and equipment."
