The here, the now and the future...

After being awarded the Mr Tinder title by the online dating app during 2017, Stefan-Pierre is working harder than ever, modelling, acting, influencing and working towards being the Gok Wan of dating, he's open to offers.

Thanks to the online dating app he found love and is dating Natasha Boon (former X-Factor contestant from Kentish Town), he's extremely happy and yes...they met on Tinder!! #comeon he is #MrTinder after all.

Mr Tinder and his business partner are constructing something special for the last year of his twenties but more importantly for the decade ahead.

The future is something we all consider at some stage of our life and for Mr Tinder he's done exactly that! He's excited to say that he's working towards becoming the Gok Wan of dating so watch this space.
