

LogicMelon Announces the Untimely Death of its CTO

Submitted by: BlueSky Public Relations Ltd

Thursday, 7 November 2019

It is with profound sadness that LogicMelon (<http://www.logicmelon.com>) shares the news that LogicMelon's CTO, Nicholas Van Esch, tragically passed away on 31 October 2019.

Darren Brown, CEO, LogicMelon said: "We're deeply shocked and saddened by Nick's sudden death. The thoughts of everyone at LogicMelon are with his family and friends, and we extend our deepest sympathies to them.

"It has been a great privilege to have known and worked beside him over the last 22 years and I'm devastated to have lost not just my business partner, but also one of my closest friends. Nick was an exceptional technical mind, innovator and developer. Known and respected for his many achievements, for driving technology innovation within the Recruitment sector, and I would like to pay tribute to his fantastic contribution to the recruitment landscape."

LogicMelon will honour Nick's legacy by continuing to bring to market recruitment technology that's refreshingly different.

If you have any questions regarding LogicMelon, please do contact the team at www.logicmelon.com

Carly Smith

BlueSky PR

T: +44 (0)1582 790 708

E: Carly@bluesky-pr.com

W: <https://www.bluesky-pr.com/>