Ten of London's top 30 "sociable postcodes" are prefixed SW, making it the most represented area in a poll by Citysocializer (<https://www.citysocializer.com>), a real world social network for young professionals.

The South West London area as a whole, from Chelsea and Clapham to Wimbledon, Earls Court and Tooting, stole the show in 2015 when it came to the number nights out enjoyed there topping the list of most popular areas in London to socialise in in 2015, followed by East London, the West End and the City of London in 2nd, 3rd and 4th places respectively.

The most socially subdued areas of London overall in comparison were North and North West London, covering neighbourhoods such as Islington, Kings Cross, Camden and Kentish Town, where the number of nights out enjoyed in 2015 were just a third or less than in the other areas of London.

At the neighbourhood level, Clapham was named the most popular place to socialise in last year, followed by St. James, Covent Garden, Clerkenwell and Shoreditch in 2nd to 5th places respectively.

This was following by The City of London in 6th place, followed by the neighbourhoods of Whitechapel, Southbank, Soho and Fitzrovia in 7th to 10th places respectively.

Sanchita Saha, CEO and founder of CitySocializer, said:

"One of the great things about being a Londoner is the abundance of neighbourhoods in the city where you can discover new, exciting and authentic local social experiences and meet new friends."
