

Fulham Autumn Festival goes Eco!

Submitted by: Corporate Innovations

Monday, 16 September 2019

North End Road Autumn Festival

Saturday 21 September 9am–5pm

North End Road, SW6 1NW

Nearest tube: Fulham Broadway

www.lbhf.gov.uk/business/markets/north-end-road-market

Twitter: @NorthEndRdMrkt Facebook: northendrdmrkt

Embrace your inner eco self at the North End Road Autumn Festival. Have some 'me' time in the grassy chill out zone, treat yourself to some ethically made, eco friendly and vegan products on offer in the new ethical trader section or take part in health and well-being taster sessions.

A pop up garden cafe, fresh fruit and veg from regular market traders and pre-loved products at the St John's Church Bric-a-Brac are just a few of the must-do moments of the festival that also boasts some of the capital's best vegan eateries plus street food from around the world.

To celebrate World Car Free Day, North End Road becomes a traffic free pedestrian precinct during the festival. More than 150 stalls will line the street which is also home to shops and eateries that cater for a variety of tastes from fresh produce and speciality ingredients through to Middle Eastern cuisine and vegan pizzas.

Busking pods and live music areas will play host to bands and musicians and the street entertainment programme continues the eco theme with living trees, a giant mechanical tortoise, electric bikes and rickshaw rides!

For press enquiries please contact: Sara Milne – Press Office for North End Road Autumn Festival
Saramilne@clareville.co.uk T: 020 7736 4022