

Reviewers Wanted for Science-Backed Health Food Supplements

Submitted by: FutureYou

Tuesday, 18 June 2019

Are you a health-conscious journalist or blogger, looking for a boost to your body? Read on.

FutureYou has a wide range of science-backed food supplements that we would like reviewed. Our supplements cover bones and joints, heart, digestive health, energy and well being.

More information on the products can be found at <https://futureyouhealth.com/>

If you would like a free product sample for review please contact:

Gill Shaffer
Communications Manager
gill@futureyouhealth.com
Tel: 07958 989124

About FutureYou

Our range of natural health supplements are scientifically proven to deliver more of what your body needs. We carry out research to create the highest quality supplements with proven absorption and clinical benefit.

The Company has close ties with Cambridge University and Addenbrooke's Hospital (Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust).

FutureYou's product development is supported by a high-profile medical board including, among others, Professor Alf Lindberg, former head of R&D at Wyeth and Aventis and former member of the Nobel Committee and Secretary of the Medical Prize; Dr Nicholas Shenker, a consultant rheumatologist and expert in chronic pain syndromes at Addenbrooke's Hospital; Mr Peter Kirkpatrick BSc MBChB MSc FRCS, a leading Cambridge University vascular neurosurgeon and Michael Heinrich, Head of University College London's centre for Pharmacognosy and Phytotherapy.