- Attractive slim aluminium design
- Quality sound, 460W peak power
- Wireless subwoofer, quick and easy set-up
- 3 HDMI connections + Bluetooth
- Dolby Audio and DTS Studio Sound for dynamic audio experience.

7th August 2018: Hitachi Europe launches a stunning, superb value high spec soundbar onto the UK market.

The slim, aluminium design AXS460BTU with wireless subwoofer delivers high quality Dolby Audio and DTS Studio sound – and 460W peak power. Priced at an incredible £149.99, it's available now, exclusively at Argos.

Introduced to build on, and complement Hitachi's existing well-established home entertainment range, the new soundbar features 2.1 channels of high quality audio which delivers an impressive boost for any home cinema. The Dolby Audio and DTS Studio ensure enhanced and textured sound, and together with the bold 460W power creates a totally immersive experience.

This rich and powerful audio performance is delivered in a slim profile measuring just 985mm x 54 mm x 74mm, with the speakers encased in an attractive anodised aluminium housing.

The soundbar features a wireless subwoofer and offers Bluetooth and NFC connectivity with 3 x HDMI (ARC) ports allowing for easy set-up and functionality.

Its stylish design and quality performance make the new Hitachi soundbar an ideal partner for any state-of-the art TV and the perfect complement to the Hitachi range of high quality, superb value TVs to create a superior home cinema experience.
