Monthly Tee Club will be offering new customers their first t-shirt for just £0.99, on Black Friday only, instead of the £9.99 RRP.

The subscription box service, in which subscribers receive a mystery t-shirt each month, can be cancelled at anytime, meaning that people can sign-up and claim their £0.99 t-shirt with no contract tie-in.

Monthly Tee Club (https://monthlyteeclub.com/?utm_source=rs&utm_medium=pr&utm_campaign=black_friday) is popular with gamers and those with a self-confessed geeks as the t-shirts include playful, humorous and cute depictions of classic video game, TV and movie characters. The service is highly tailored to the subscribers interests; the join-up process involves a short questionnaire that determines clothing size and preferred fit, and joiners are asked to specify different interests such as animals and gaming.

Monthly Tee Club founder Rick Chebrika says:

“We are offering an amazing deal to new subscribers this Black Friday because we know that those who are already members, love our products.

There is something quite thrilling about receiving a mystery package each month, knowing that the t-shirt inside is going to be a cool design based on your favourite video game or TV show. We want more people to experience that excitement.”

Those interested in receiving a £0.99 t-shirt should get on the website between midnight on Thursday 22nd November until midnight on Black Friday and enter code BLACKFRIDAY.
