British fashion retailer Next showcase their collection of men's partywear for the festive season. With men's tailoring, ties and that important tuxedo, there is an array of fits, styles and colour schemes. What's more, Next's next day delivery when you shop before 9pm* means you can have the latest men's looks (<http://www.next.co.uk/men>) the very next day.

The first part of perfecting the party look is to find your favourite suit. Perhaps go for precision cut charcoal, a classic black ensemble or even a suave statement suit in navy. Choices range from every day slim fit to luxurious Italian ranges and 100% wool suits. Next, browse the range of coloured, striped, printed and white shirts for men to find one to best fit the occasion. If black tie isn't for you, there are plenty of coloured Oxford shirts in this season's berry, blues and greys along with already coordinating shirt and tie sets. Depending on how formal the event, perhaps add a waistcoat, pocket square or bow tie.

To complete the look, Next's footwear collection has a great range of men's formal shoes (<http://www.next.co.uk/men/shoes>) - but where to start? Ever wondered the difference between open and closed lacing? How about the etiquette when it comes to shoe embellishments? Or if you should really match your socks with your trousers? Next's latest men's shoes infographic The Discerning Gentleman's Guide to Shoes will ensure you never make a footwear faux-pas again. Find it over at the Next blog (<http://blog.next.co.uk/put-your-best-foot-forward-the-discerning-gentlemans-guide-to-shoes-2/>).

Brimming with catwalk inspired fashion, this season Next has the best in the latest women's, men's and children's trends – with stylish clothing for the coming season being showcased in stores and online.
