

Helen Doron Educational Group Now Seeking National or Master Franchisees in the UK

Submitted by: Portfolio Communications

Wednesday, 15 June 2011

The Helen Doron Educational Group, one of the fastest growing brands in private education, has announced that it is now looking for either a national franchisor or master franchisees to establish its unique teaching methods in the UK.

The Helen Doron Educational Group represents an outstanding educational franchise business opportunity (<http://www.helendorongroup.co.uk/f-general.php>) for qualified entrepreneurs and prospective franchise partners. With 650 franchisees already well established across over 30 countries, the Helen Doron Educational Group is seeking top level entrepreneurs to become a master or national franchisor.

Helen Doron, CEO and founder of the Helen Doron Educational Group comments: "We are looking for people who want to own their own lucrative business and already have strong management and marketing skills. The right candidates will not only have a commitment to educational ideals but also a passion for helping children reach their full potential."

The Group has designed two outstanding educational programmes, Ready-Steady-Move! and MathRiders especially for the UK market. Ready-Steady-Move! (<http://www.ready-steady-move.co.uk>) is an innovative fitness programme with a language component for children aged 3 to 8. Through fun, musical activities using a combination of yoga, pilates, dance, martial arts and more, youngsters build healthy bodies while learning a new language. The programme is currently available in 6 languages: French, German, Mandarin, Spanish, Hebrew and English.

MathRiders (<http://www.mathriders.co.uk>) is a complete maths tutoring system based on the UK curriculum to cater for small groups of children from nursery school age to A-level. Created by pedagogical experts, it begins by encouraging children to seek out and discover maths in the world around them and assists older children in keeping up with schoolwork, teaching self-reliance and good study habits applicable to all subjects.

All franchise partners receive extensive business training and full support from the leading educational group. For more information, please visit www.helendorongroup.co.uk.

-ends-

About The Helen Doron Educational Group

The Helen Doron Educational Group serves children and youth around the world through uniquely inspired enrichment programmes that provide quality, ISO9000-2001 authorised and age-appropriate learning enhancement and social development.

The Group's exclusive methodologies, enjoyable learning programmes and quality educational materials have ensured its position at the forefront of innovative educational systems since 1985. With a presence in over 30 countries, there are over 600 Helen Doron Learning Centres and 3,000 active Helen Doron teachers, all run by approximately 60 Master Franchisors and nearly 700 franchisees.

For more information, please visit www.helendorongroup.co.uk.

Press contact details:

Claudia Kellermann / Louisa Constable
Portfolio Communications
020 7240 6959
HelenDoronGroup@portfoliocomms.com

Ref - 11-040