Quantix, nominated across 3 separate categories, received Oracle’s award for “Continuous Investment in People & Learning” at the recent Oracle Partner Awards ceremony in London. These nominations and the subsequent award follow another very successful year for Quantix as an Oracle Certified Advantage Partner. In addition to winning the award, Quantix were also nominated in the ‘Technology Partner of the Year’ & ‘Best Technology Partner - General Business’ categories. The award reinforces Quantix’s position as one of the leading Oracle Partners in the UK and demonstrates their commitment to delivering best of breed Oracle Services (http://www.quantix-uk.com/pages/oracle_tech/oracle_tech.php).

Stuart Turner, Senior Vice President of Oracle Applications, presented Quantix with their award and stated:-

“The quality of their [Quantix] people and the Oracle team they have created has allowed them to grow their revenues by over 60 per cent in FY07”.

The Continuous Investment in People & Learning award recognises Quantix’s continued investment in the skills of its Oracle Practice. This investment has not only helped Quantix grow its top line Oracle revenues but has been instrumental in creating the infrastructure for delivering market leading Oracle Support (http://www.quantix-uk.com/pages/managed_services/oracle_support.php) & Managed Services (http://www.quantix-uk.com/pages/managed_services/managed_services.php) to over 200 UK clients.

Simon Goodenough, Sales Director of Quantix, commented:

"Being nominated for 3 awards is an achievement in itself, but to come away with an Oracle award such as this demonstrates that our Oracle Practice is certainly delivering in all the areas that matter”.
