Employers To Win Awards For Remote Working

Remote Employment has announced the launch of the Remote Worker Awards (<http://www.remoteworkerawards.com>) to highlight how remote and home working benefits the environment, business productivity and employees' quality of work life.

The Remote Worker Awards comes at a time when companies across the UK are faced with downsizing their work force. The awards aims to raise awareness for remote and home working as an alternate solution to redundancy and the traditional nine to five office routine.

The awards are organised by Remote Employment (<http://www.remoteemployment.com>) an online UK job site for remote workers and employers. With nine categories including The Home Business Award and The Remote Employer Award, winners will enjoy thousands of pounds worth of prizes from computer hardware, business and remote working software to essential consultancy advice from PR and marketing experts.

Companies entering these awards will receive national recognition as a forward thinking company, raise their company profile and shine above their competition. As well as gaining kudos and credibility in their industry, the winning Remote Employer will also receive valuable prizes that will increase the effectiveness of their remote workforce.

The Remote Employer Award

(<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Remote+Employer+Award&p=278>) will honour the winning company that demonstrates how remote working and home working has made a beneficial impact on their business.

The Remote Worker Awards will also celebrate the most innovative home based businesses in The The Home Business Award (<http://www.remoteemployment.com/pages.aspx?Work+at+Home=Home+Business+Award&p=277>) with a collection of valuable prizes perfectly paired with small and large companies that use their home as a base to increase business mobility.

Paula Wynne, organiser of the awards and co-founder of Remote Employment expects to unearth an abundance of inventive pioneers who champion flexibility with remote working solutions!

Paula said: "The Remote Worker Awards will feature the winners in a Remote Worker E-Book to help other companies to implement a flexible and remote working program."

The Remote Worker Awards has lined up a prestigious panel of judges with successful businesswoman and serial entrepreneur, Karen Darby, founder of SimplySwitch, leading the way.

Other judges include include Alex Johnson of Shedworking fame, Cath Roan from Careershifters, Diana Robertson from Business Link London, Tony Corbin of MATISSE and Jackie Brennan of FreshIdeas Events.

To add an exciting dimension to The Remote Worker Awards a remote judge, Jeff Zbar, founder of Chief Home Officer in the United States, has been appointed as a Remote Judge. This is remote judging ... or remote working at its best!
