

reallymoving.com offering free rescue removal insurance

Submitted by: Rosemary Rogers PR

Friday, 7 March 2003

Reallymoving.com offers FREE removal rescue insurance

<http://www.reallymoving.com>

Anyone who takes up a reallymoving.com quote for conveyancing, surveying or removals can have FREE insurance for their move. Moving home is already stressful enough. Reallymoving's free insurance covers:

- If the removal vehicle fails to arrive on the pre-arranged day, your removal firm will be contacted to discuss a resolution to the problem and, if necessary, an alternative removal company will be found.
- If your own vehicle(s) should breakdown during the removal journey, a breakdown vehicle will be sent to repair it. If it cannot be repaired, in time alternative arrangements will be made to get you to your new home.
- If upon arrival, you cannot take up immediate residence either as a result of non-arrival of the removal van, loss of effects or unforeseen continued occupation by the vendor, the policy will pay for the emergency purchase of some personal necessities and/or hotel accommodation (bed and breakfast) expenses as deemed necessary.

Reallymoving.com's unique service provides instant online quotes for many of the services needed when moving home; in particular conveyancing, removals and surveys. It was launched in November 1999, and has become a leading provider of online home-moving services.

Reallymoving.com is an independent and privately financed service. It has a network of 100 partners for removals, conveyancing and surveying and during 2002 reallymoving.com assisted with over 20,000 home-moves.

The Reallymoving Removal Rescue Insurance is provided by one of Europe's leading insurance companies.

For further information/interviews, contact Rosemary Rogers MIPR, tel: 01727 848420 or mail@rosemaryrogers.co.uk.